Feathers of an Angel

This energy relieves of guilt for the past, anxiety for the present and fear before the future. This is done through a whirlwind of white feathers.

To those with the gift of sight pay attention to things that you may see inside the person you are sending energy to. There could be “nests” of many emotionally explosive wounds. Send energy that will also help to put the person at ease as this can be difficult.

You may see which chakras have grey or negative energy. This energy cleans all of that. It is possible to send the energy not only to one person but their family and even then it is easy to see where negative energy lies. You can use this energy within any healing arena. The use of guided meditation with healer speaking softly and pleasantly can be a very productive therapeutic trance.

Attunement is received by mental inquiry - an example:

"I ask ... (Master's name) to give me the attunement for “Feathers of an Angel.”

The only thing you need is intention and the sincere desire to receive the attunement. Your sincere desire will be received from a higher force so it is important to keep that connection in mind. Remember. You are making the choice to change your life with welcoming this energy to you.

Everyone is different so the attunement will be perceived in the manner which is correct for the individual.

Like Reiki, Feathers of an angel is a healing energy. You can send treatments to self before you fall asleep and right after you awaken.
